

Impera Intelligence Group

The Elite Global Intelligence Firm.

We watch your back so you can look forward.

Predictive Analytics

We are always looking around the corner to anticipate and mitigate your risk. By employing sophisticated methodologies and algorithms that analyze public and non-public information, our clients get ahead of potential problems before they occur. Through extensive data mining, Impera’s clients across several industries have benefited from customized models that identify indicators of security risk, market volatility, and major sociopolitical events.

Corporate Due Diligence

We can validate and vet your investments, partnerships, and security environments—both in the United States and abroad. Whether you are seeking to expand operations overseas, managing a complex legal negotiation, or contemplating new equity investments, Impera’s global intelligence capabilities and reach are invaluable in lowering your exposure and that of your own clients. We are committed to ensuring that your interests are safeguarded.

Threat Solutions

Our subject-matter experts can produce tailored analytic products that address your most pressing—and future—financial, security, and political risks. We employ only the most rigorous intelligence-based tradecraft and insight to provide actionable solutions for your enterprise. Leveraging both public and non-public information, Impera’s CIA-trained analysts and cybersecurity experts give you the “so-what” of emerging threats, trends, and events that are most relevant to your bottom line.

Impera is your single source for anticipating and managing risk across a variety of industries and sectors. We do this by leveraging a network of human intelligence and cybersecurity sources that spans the globe.

Unlike other risk-mitigation firms, Impera combines human and cyber intelligence to provide a comprehensive threat picture of your financial and security risks.

Why Impera?

Approach

Impera believes effective risk mitigation comes from the integration of multiple intelligence streams, not just one. Our clients benefit from a quantitative and qualitative blending of human and cyber intelligence—providing a more holistic analysis of risk and threat mitigation.

Service

Unlike some competitors, we only sign a select number of clients to ensure they get the personal attention they deserve, and our products reflect the highest standards of quality and tradecraft. Each client is unique, and we are committed to analyzing your risk and developing solutions in efficient and cost-effective ways. Impera’s professionals are available 24 hours a day, 7 days a week.

Expertise

Our intelligence experts and affiliates have unparalleled networks of human and cyber resources worldwide. Impera’s professionals and partners have decades of experience in the CIA, FBI, NSA, and US Departments of Defense and Homeland Security—offering you technologically advanced data and human intelligence in globally vibrant locales.

We blend anticipatory human and cyber intelligence to reduce your risk.
